The Merchants Trust PLC

Factsheet

31 August 2018

Aim

The Trust's objective is to provide an above average level of income, income growth and long-term growth of capital through a policy of investing mainly in higher yielding large UK companies.

History

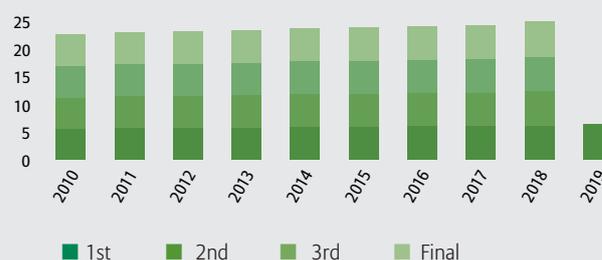

The Merchants Trust PLC was incorporated in February 1889, making it the oldest of the investment trusts in the Allianz Global Investors stable. Initially it invested in the fixed interest securities of railway companies in the USA, Canada and South America, but now concentrates primarily on major UK companies with an above average rate of dividend yield.

Trust Benefits

Merchants has for many years focused on a simple proposition to deliver a high and rising income together with capital growth for its shareholders. Simon Gergel has been managing the trust for ten years, investing in a diversified portfolio of large, well-established and well-known UK companies. Although past performance is no guide to the future, Merchants has paid increasingly higher dividends to its shareholders year on year for the last 36 years.

Share Price is the price of a single ordinary share, as determined by the stock market. The share price above is the mid-market price at market close.

Net Asset Value (NAV) per Share is calculated as available shareholders' funds divided by the number of shares in issue, with shareholders' funds taken to be the net value of all the company's assets after deducting liabilities.

The NAV figure above is based on the fair/market value cum income of the company's long-term debt and preference shares (known as debt at market value). This allows for the valuation of long-term debt and preference shares at fair value or current market price, rather than at final repayment value (known as debt at par).

Premium/Discount. Since investment company shares are traded on a stock market, the share price that you get may be higher or lower than the NAV. The difference is known as a premium or discount.

Dividend Yield is calculated using the latest full year dividend divided by the current share price.

Gearing is a measure of a company's financial leverage and shows the extent to which its operations are funded by lenders versus shareholders.

Fund Manager's Review

There was quite a contrast between the political environment and financial markets in August. Despite the holiday season, politics was never out of the headlines, with both the main political parties seeing infighting and questions over leadership, whilst the Brexit negotiations remained complex and uncertain. In contrast it was a relatively calm month for financial markets, with relatively few companies reporting over the summer period.

The UK stock market trended lower over the month, on low volatility. Only a few of the large sectors produced positive returns, with non-life insurance, personal goods, media and pharmaceuticals making modest gains. In contrast, the mobile telecommunications, tobacco, mining and bank sectors were the worst performers.

The Trust's NAV returned -3.92 against the benchmark return of 2.76%. However, portfolio performance was modestly ahead of the benchmark. Tate & Lyle shares performed well, on hopes that the US and Mexico would agree a free trade deal which would help Tate's US corn products business. Standard Life Aberdeen also outperformed, benefitting from the listing of their Indian asset management associate. In addition, the portfolio benefitted from not owning British American Tobacco, as those shares weakened, pulling back the index return. On the other hand, Antofagasta and BHP Billiton underperformed, as the copper price came under pressure, and BAE Systems shares underperformed after a strong period.

Activity was relatively limited during the month. We continued to add to Keller which we purchased in July and also added to other attractively positioned, reasonably priced companies such as “ We aim to hold a broadly diversified portfolio of companies, across many different industries, both domestically exposed and those with multinational or global businesses.

Antofagasta and St James's Place. These investments were funded by taking profits in shares such as GlaxoSmithKline, Senior and Informa (previously UBM) which have performed well.

There are a number of risks to the outlook for economies and markets, notably the Brexit negotiations and rising global trade tensions, as well as rising UK interest rates. However, there are several positive factors to consider as well. The UK economy is growing at a reasonable pace, unemployment is at extremely low levels and there are few signs of systemic stress. Interest rates remain extremely low by historic standards. In any case, the majority of UK listed companies' sales and profits comes from overseas, mostly outside of the EU. This provides investors with a considerable level of protection from the worst case Brexit scenarios.

In this environment, our strategy is not to position the portfolio for one specific scenario, but to place a strong emphasis on portfolio construction. We aim to hold a broadly diversified portfolio of companies, across many different industries, both domestically exposed and those with multinational or global businesses.

Due to the modest valuation of the UK stock market, we have been able to identify many attractively priced companies that meet our investment criteria. Specifically we are looking for fundamentally sound businesses, trading on reasonable valuations, that benefit from supportive structural and cyclical thematic trends. We believe that a portfolio of such companies is well placed to meet Merchants' long term objectives of delivering a high and rising income stream and capital growth.

Risk & Features

Investment trusts are quoted companies listed on the London Stock Exchange. Their share prices are determined by factors including the balance of supply and demand in the market.

Merchants seeks to enhance returns for its shareholders through gearing which can boost the Trust's returns when investments perform well, though losses can be magnified when investments lose value. You should be aware that this Trust may be subject to sudden and large falls in value and you could suffer substantial capital loss.

Derivatives may be used to manage the Trust efficiently.

Past performance is not a reliable indicator of future returns. You should not make any assumptions on the future on the basis of performance information. The value of an investment and the income from it can fall as well as rise as a result of market fluctuations and you may not get back the amount originally invested. This investment trust charges 65% of its annual management fee to the capital account and 35% to revenue. This could lead to a higher level of income but capital growth will be constrained as a result.
